CDIAC publishes these articles as educational resources for local governments and does not specifically endorse any of the tools or products described in them.

In May 2005, the Secretary of Defense recommended that 12 California military installations be closed as part of the Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) 2005 process including Armed Forces Reserve Center Bell; Defense Finance and Accounting Service, Oakland; Defense and Accounting Service, San Bernardino; Defense Finance and Accounting Service, San Diego; Defense Finance and Accounting Service, Seaside; Naval Support Activity Corona; Naval Weapons Station Seal Beach-Concord; Navy-Marine Corps Reserve Center, Encino; Navy-Marine Corps Reserve Center, Los Angeles; Onizuka Air Force Station; Riverbank Army Ammunition Plant, and other leased space in California. The Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission, the President, and Congress must all review and act on this list before any installation closures become final. While many commentators believe that the impact of the BRAC 2005 round of base closures on California will be less than expected, the final impact of the current round will not be clear until the end of 2005.

For those California communities facing the task of redeveloping a closed military installation they undoubtedly will want to move quickly to replace lost jobs and economic activity. One of the first tasks they must face will be to organize a team that can quickly and successfully implement a base redevelopment strategy once it is determined. We believe that some of the lessons learned from prior redevelopment efforts may be beneficial to these communities.

California air base redevelopment efforts have been undertaken using a number of different organizational structures including regional authorities, county departments, private sector master developers, and combinations of these structures. This article identifies the organizational structure for each of the six California air bases being redeveloped into commercial airports. It then identifies the allocation of major redevelopment costs within the redevelopment team. Finally, this article considers how these organizational structures have affected redevelopment efforts at the facilities by identifying lessons learned. It is hoped that these lessons learned can be applied by California communities to all types of installations that may be closed or realigned in the 2005 base closure round.

Redevelopment Focus

In the wake of prior closures, most California communities have decided to continue aviation activity at closed air bases. Such redevelopment efforts are typically focused on the air cargo and aircraft maintenance, repair, and overhaul (MRO) segments of the aviation industry as well as general commercial development. Passenger air service and general aviation are also a focus for some of the facilities.

Fitch Ratings Publishes Guidelines for Municipal Swaps

Mitigating risk inherent to derivative products can be mostly achieved if sound guidelines are implemented and followed, according to Fitch Ratings. In a report published May 9th, the agency issued updated guidelines for interest rate swaps and variable-rate debt in view of their rapid expansion in the municipal swap market.

In the report titled "Guidelines for Interest Rate Swaps and Variable-Rate Debt," Fitch Ratings stated that issuers that have used derivatives have achieved their initial intended objectives, benefiting from lower net borrowing costs and/or a more closely matched mix of assets and liabilities. However, the use of derivatives also involves risks, such as termination, counterparty credit, collateral posting, rollover, basis, variable interest rate, and tax risks not present in natural long-term fixed-rate debt.

The factors Fitch Ratings considers in determining an issuer's capacity for interest rate swaps and variable-rate exposure are the issuer's operating flexibility, its debt levels and access to additional capital, the likelihood of an issuer downgrade triggering a collateral call or termination payment, and the issuer's financial management capabilities, including staffing and access to financial market data.

Potential risk factors that might warrant further review are higher than appropriate notional exposures, swaps that involve leverage formulas or up-front payments, counterparties with low credit quality, swaps with highly negative fair market values, noncredit-related termination events, and issuers with limited abilities to manage swap risks. Fitch also considers the issuers' objectives in entering into the swap, the likelihood that those goals will be met, and whether the swap exposes the issuer to an "imprudent" level of market risk.

Both Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investors Service have released similar reports. Moody's Investors Service publishes its criteria on swaps on a sector-by-sector basis. The most recent report was published in May 2004 and was titled "Increasing Use of Interest Rate Swaps by Local Governments Reflects Low Interest Rate Environment and New Authorizing Legislation." In September 2004, Standard & Poor's published its debt derivative profile scoring system to measure derivatives risk.

GAO Releases Report on Grants Simplification

The U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) recently issued a report on the federal government's work regarding P.L. 106-107, the Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act of 1999.

Congress passed the act in an effort to reduce duplicative, burdensome, and conflicting administrative requirements in the over 1,000 different federal grant programs. The GAO was somewhat critical of the federal government's outreach efforts with its report noting the lack of outreach and coordination with grantees, and in particular, questioning why the ombudsman position set out early in the work plan never came to fruition.

The report also highlights areas of progress including the development of the "grants.gov", website that allows grantees to identify grant opportunities and apply for them electronically.

The full report may be viewed at the GAO website, www.gao.gov.

Governor Restores Funding for Transportation Projects

On May 11th, Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger, citing higher-than-expected revenues from an improving economy, said he would not take $1.3 billion from the state's transportation budget in the coming fiscal year.

The move ends years of borrowing from the transportation fund to balance the state's general fund.

The money will be spread throughout the state to help plan and construct roads, bridges, highways and public transit projects.

The transit money comes from funds raised by Proposition 42, which was approved by voters in 2002. The measure mandated that the existing state sales tax on gasoline be dedicated to transportation improvement projects. The measure allowed lawmakers to suspend that guarantee and use the money for general purposes.

As the economy has continued to improve, it is expected that the state will have at a minimum $2.2 billion more in revenue to spend. Under a budget control mechanism proposed last year, the state could borrow from Proposition 42 again in fiscal year 2006-07, but then would be prohibited from borrowing beyond that, with all owed money paid back over 15 years.

The full text of the May Revision is available at the "California Budget" section of the California Department of Finance web site at www.dof.ca.gov.

In related news .....An Assembly committee voted to sidetrack a nearly $10 billion high-speed rail bond measure for another two years, despite a warning that the delay could make the project prohibitively expensive.

Sale of the bonds would generate $9 billion to help pay for a high-speed rail line between Los Angeles and San Francisco - the first leg of a 700 mile, $37 billion project that would eventually link Los Angeles, San Francisco, Fresno, Sacramento, and San Diego with trains running at top speeds of more than 200 mph.

The Legislature originally put the proposal on the November 2004 ballot, but then decided to postpone the vote until 2006,

Redevelopment Approach

Communities in California have taken a number of approaches to organizing their redevelopment efforts at former air bases as outlined in the table below and the following discussion.

ORGANIZING FOR SUCCESS

Castle Airport Aviation and Development Center. Merced County is currently negotiating the terms under which Federal Development LLC will redevelop the 463-acre commercial development area adjacent to the 1,360-acre Castle Airport currently operated by the County. The operation of the Airport is also under discussion. Details of the arrangement between the County and Federal Development have not been finalized.

March Air Reserve Base. March Air Reserve Base was realigned from an active duty base to an Air Force Reserve Base in 1996. The Air Force Reserve retains control of the joint military and civilian use airfield while the March Joint Powers Authority leases approximately 1,550 acres of commercial development area from the Air Force Reserve with the ability to purchase this area when environmental remediation is completed.

March GlobalPort is the master developer of a 350-acre commercial development area at March Air Reserve Base. This commercial development area has airfield access making it suitable for aviation activity such as air cargo and aircraft MRO. Individual parcels of land are subleased by GlobalPort from the Authority as tenants are identified. While no payment is made by GlobalPort until a land parcel is subleased, GlobalPort bears the cost of operation and maintenance, infrastructure, and marketing for the commercial development area.

An airfield use fee is triggered under the joint use agreement for March Air Reserve Base once a specified number of daily civilian aircraft operations is reached. Such an arrangement significantly eases the burden of maintaining an airfield during the most financially challenging period of redevelopment startup when few tenants are available to support facility operating costs.

LNR Property Corporation is the master developer for a 1,200-acre commercial development area without airfield access at March Air Reserve Base under an arrangement similar to that of GlobalPort for the airfield access areas. LNR, however, takes fee simple title to portions of the area as development is undertaken and makes significant infrastructure improvements for the business park being developed on the site. After recovering its investment, LNR retains 25 percent of net profits with the other 75 percent paid to the Authority.

McClellan Park. McClellan Business Park LLC (MBP) entered into a lease purchase agreement with Sacramento County for the 2,100-acre commercial development area surrounding the airfield at McClellan Park in addition to a remotely located housing area and nine-hole golf course. The County retained approximately 900 acres of McClellan Park for the operation of an airport. McClellan Airport is operated by the County as an independent financial entity and is not part of the Sacramento County Airport System which includes Sacramento International Airport, Sacramento Mather Airport, Sacramento Executive Airport, and Franklin Field. The Airport is funded by a combination of user fees and payments by MBP. MBP participates in some aspects of Airport operation through management of the fixed base operator and the marketing of Airport hangars and other facilities.

MBP paid an initial $3 million for the commercial development area with an additional $21 million being deposited into an infrastructure improvement fund managed by the County. MBP also committed to invest an additional $20 million in infrastructure improvements to the facility and to fund any Airport operating cost shortfall. Tax increment financing has also been made available to construct infrastructure improvements at McClellan Park. When total gross revenue from property sales and leases at McClellan Park reach $150 million, MBP will begin to pay the County 4 percent of revenues.

Sacramento Mather Airport. As discussed above, Sacramento County operates Sacramento Mather Airport as part of the Sacramento County Airport System. The County used an internally structured line of credit to fund the initial start up costs for the 2,900-acre Mather so as not to financially burden the County Airport System. Mather was later incorporated into the County Airport System as it approached financial self-sufficiency. The County was fortunate in that the location of Mather allowed a number of air cargo carriers to be shifted from Sacramento International Airport to Mather increasing the revenue at that facility. McCuen Properties LLC was retained by the County Airport System to market the non-aviation areas of Mather. The County Airport System, however, retains responsibility for Mather operating and capital costs.

San Bernardino International Airport. The 2,200-acre San Bernardino International Airport and Trade Center consists of a 1,300-acre airport, a 400-acre commercial development area with airfield access, and an additional 500-acre commercial development area without airfield access. The San Bernardino International Airport Authority operates the Airport while Hillwood Development Corporation, a Ross Perot company, is developing the commercial development area without airfield access.

Hillwood has the option to buy individual land parcels at a fixed price and is responsible for all marketing and development costs associated with the parcels. Once Hillwood finds buyers or tenants, the Authority, in addition to the land purchase price paid by Hillwood, receives a payment of 20 percent of the net profit on any parcel sales and 15 percent of net lease revenues for leased facilities. Land parcels are sold to Hillwood at a below market fixed purchase price to compensate the developer for demolition and other cleanup costs. The

CDIAC REVIEWS FOURTH QUARTER 2004 INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO REPORTS FROM COUNTIES AND CITIES

Frank Moore

CDIAC Policy Research Unit

Editors Note: This is a continuation in a series of informational articles that CDIAC publishes biennially. This article takes the information contained in investment reports and policies submitted to CDIAC in fulfillment of AB 943 and presents averages and trends in city and county compliance rates, numbers of types of investments used, specific investment instruments used, returns on investments, and days to maturity. This is not an original research report, but rather a generalized description of the information contained in these investment reports.

Prior to 2004, cities and counties (with some exceptions) have been required to submit investment reports on a quarterly basis to their legislative bodies, chief executive officers, and internal auditors. Chapter 889, Statutes of 2004 (AB 2853, Laird) eliminated the requirement to submit investment reports and investment policies to legislative bodies and, instead, encourages local governments to do so. Nonetheless, if local agencies choose to continue to file investment policies and reports with their legislative bodies, they are required to file these documents with the California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission (CDIAC) for the appropriate time period. If counties and cities filed their investment portfolio reports with their legislative bodies for the fourth quarter of 2004, they were required to submit copies of these reports to CDIAC pursuant to Government Code Sections 53646 (g)–(i) by March 1, 2005. CDIAC analyzed a sample of city investment reports and all county investment reports that were submitted.

Because information is not submitted to CDIAC in a standardized format, CDIAC had to make numerous assumptions regarding various aspects of the data (in particular, those fields related to portfolio yield and types of investment categories). Therefore, the information reported in this article is best used to provide a broad-based overview of local agency portfolios in California.

Moreover, CDIAC discourages local agencies from making direct comparisons of factors such as portfolio yield because the information reported does not control for cashflow issues or risk acceptance levels that vary significantly among local agencies.

Number of City Investment Reports Filed Decreases

Investment portfolio reporting to CDIAC for counties increased somewhat from the prior period's compliance rate. Counties filed 55 investment policies (95 percent) for the quarter ending June 30, 2004. For the quarter ending December 31, this response increased to 56 investment policies (97 percent).

Investment portfolio reporting to CDIAC for cities decreased somewhat from the prior period's compliance rate. Cities filed 338 portfolio reports (71 percent) for the quarter ending June 30, 2004. The response rate decreased to 332 portfolio reports (69 percent) for the quarter ending December 31, 2004. Of the 478 California cities, 15 have indicated to CDIAC that they will no longer submit investment reports to their legislative bodies and, in turn, remit copies to CDIAC. No counties have indicated to CDIAC that they have stopped their investment reporting.

In general, the investment portfolio response rate for the most recent reporting period for smaller cities in the sample (population less than 25,000) was 56 percent and for larger cities in the sample (population greater than 100,000) was 89 percent. The response rate for smaller counties was 87 percent and for larger counties was 100 percent.

Diversity of Portfolios

CDIAC found that, as it has found in past quarters, as county and city investment portfolio size increased, the types of investments in which these local agencies invested also grew. CDIAC grouped counties and cities that were analyzed into quartiles based on their portfolio size. Figure 1 shows that, for counties with investment portfolios under $94 million, four had one to three types of instruments, nine had four to six types, and one had seven or more types of instruments in their portfolios. For counties with investment portfolios over $1.2 billion, one had one to three types of instruments, four had four to six types, and ten had seven or more types of instruments in their portfolios. A similar pattern can be seen in city portfolios (see Figure 2), though the diversity is identical for the two largest categories of cities (six had one to three types of instruments and eight had four to six types of instruments in their portfolios).

4 to 6	0	4	8	8
7 or more	0	0	0	0

Figures 3 and 4 show the percent of counties and cities, respectively, that hold each type of investment instrument in their current portfolio, by portfolio size. Figure 3 shows that the smallest counties are more likely than the largest counties to invest in externally managed funds such as the state Local Agency Investment Fund (LAIF). Smaller counties may chose to invest largely in investment pools as part of a more passive, less time-intensive management approach. This approach relies on external managers and seeks diversity through the many instruments purchased by the pool. Smaller counties, in particular, may benefit from the administrative cost savings associated with this approach, especially if they do not have adequate staff or resources to dedicate toward full-time investment management. Plus, assuming proper management of the selected pools, county investment in pools can be useful to manage credit risk, market risk, and liquidity risk because the selected pool portfolios themselves are diversified by type of instrument, issuer, and maturity. Smaller counties may not be able to achieve this degree of diversity if they were to invest in individual investments because of their limited investable resources, the high thresholds for minimum purchases, and the high transaction costs relative to dollars invested for minimum purchases. Larger counties, on the other hand, may rely on internal staff and/or external investment advisors for more active management of their portfolios. As Figure 3 shows, the larger counties rely much more heavily on investment in commercial paper, repurchase agreements, and negotiable certificates of deposit than those counties with under $94 million in portfolio investments.

Figure 4 shows that cities rely more heavily than counties on externally managed funds such as LAIF. The use of LAIF is relatively uniform for cities of all portfolio sizes. Larger cities are also more likely to invest in U.S. Treasuries and Agencies, commercial paper, repurchase agreements, and medium-term notes than smaller cities.

Yield and Days to Maturity Comparisons

CDIAC also tried to discern whether any relationship exists between size of portfolio, average portfolio maturity, and portfolio yield. In theory, counties and cities with larger portfolios have the ability, through economies of scale and increased staff resources, to invest in higher yielding instruments. In addition, CDIAC hypothesized that the larger the size of a portfolio, the greater potential flexibility for investing in instruments with longer maturities. In a normal upward sloping yield curve environment, investments with longer maturities would garner an increased yield. The results of CDIAC's analysis, however, does not show a clear relationship between portfolio size and average yield nor for portfolio size and average days to maturity for counties. There is a stronger relationship between portfolio size and average yield for cities. There is an even stronger relationship between portfolio size and average days to maturity for cities.

Figures 5 and 6 illustrate average, low, and high yields and days to maturity for both counties and cities. Figure 5 shows that the largest county portfolios actually have lower average yields than the smallest. The average days to maturity of the four size groups of portfolios range between 243 and 490 days. Figure 6 shows a somewhat different result for cities that is more in line with the hypothesis discussed above. The average portfolio yield for cities grows from 2.1 percent to 2.8 percent as portfolio size grows. Similarly, average days to maturity increases from 16 days to 531 days as portfolio size increases.

Authority has also made tax increment financing available to construct infrastructure improvements. Hillwood is held to performance benchmarks that require the development of defined areas within certain time frames.

Southern California Logistics Airport. Stirling Airports International LLC is the master developer for the 2,800-acre commercial development area surrounding the 1,500-acre Southern California Logistics Airport. In exchange for taking title to the commercial development area, Stirling paid the air base conveyance purchase price for this area. Profits from the commercial development area are split evenly between Stirling and the Southern California Logistics Airport Authority. While marketing and development costs are paid by Stirling, tax increment financing is available to fund infrastructure improvements.

Sacramento Mather Airport	Sacramento County Airport System	Sacramento County Airport System
San Bernardino International Airport	San Bernardino International Airport Authority	Hillwood Development Corporation
Southern California Logistics Airport	Southern California Logistics Airport Authority	Stirling Airports International LLC

Lessons Learned

These six redevelopment programs have yielded a number of lessons learned that are mostly related to the allocation of costs to encourage successful redevelopment.

Subdivision of Facility and Allocation of Financial Responsibility. Redevelopment plans for the bases considered here have, in most instances, called for the facility to be subdivided into an airport and one or more commercial development areas. Subdividing the facilities in this way has allowed the responsibility for airport costs and commercial development area redevelopment responsibility to be allocated to different entities.

While no redevelopment team member wishes to take on the financial burden of operating a start-up airport with few tenants to cover costs, this responsibility has often been assumed by local government. Allocating the costs of an airport to a third party developer would burden commercial development areas with costs not present at other competing areas outside of the base and make redevelopment of the facility more difficult. As a result, airport costs were not made the responsibility of the third party developer at most of the California bases.

The funding of capital improvements also plays a role in the allocation of responsibility for airport costs as publicly owned airports can fund capital improvements at a lower cost through federal airport grants, low-cost tax-free debt, and (where passenger service is present) federal Passenger Facility Charge program revenue.

Tax Increment Financing. Land typically requires the construction of infrastructure such as roads and utilities before it can be sold or leased for development. Such infrastructure can add significantly to the cost ultimately paid by a buyer or tenant for a facility constructed on the land. Mitigating such infrastructure costs can make land more marketable. Tax increment financing is one approach used to mitigate infrastructure costs. This approach uses the proceeds from a bond issue to fund infrastructure improvements for a specified area. These bonds are themselves backed by expected increased tax revenue resulting from the development of the area benefiting from the infrastructure improvements.

UPDATED LOCAL AGENCY INVESTMENT GUIDELINES

Nova Edwards
CDIAC Policy Research Unit

The California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission (CDIAC) announces the release of its Local Agency Investment Guidelines: Update for 2005 (Guidelines), which is now available on CDIAC's website.

The Guidelines reflect changes and additions to California Government Code Sections 53601, 53630, and 53646. Perhaps the most notable revision is in section 53646(a) and (b), which removes the mandatory annual filing of a local agency's annual investment policy and the quarterly filing of a local agency's investment report, respectively. Other changes include the following:

- 53601(o) – eligibility criteria for investing in joint powers authority pools;
- 53601.7(a) – the addition of a securities lending agreement as one of the agreements under which an investment may be made in a security;
- 53601.2 and 53630 (j) – the definition of a corporation as a limited liability company.

To view the Guidelines, visit CDIAC's website at www.treasurer.ca.gov/cdiac. In addition, hard copies of the Guidelines may be obtained by contacting CDIAC at (916) 653-3269.

ORGANIZING FOR SUCCESS

McClellan Park, San Bernardino International Airport, and Southern California Logistics Airport all have been given access to tax increment financing to mitigate infrastructure improvement costs. The use of tax increment financing relieves a developer of an additional cost burden, much like the allocation of start-up airport costs to other entities. Tax increment financing can therefore reduce land costs, make land more marketable, and make the redevelopment project more successful.

Joint-Use Facilities. Joint-use aviation facilities that serve both military and civilian users offer significant benefits to a local community. As the military usually retains responsibility for the airfield, airfield operation and maintenance costs do not initially burden the local community. Joint-use facilities offer certain challenges however. Close cooperation on airfield operating procedures and repairs between the military and local community must be maintained to ensure that private sector tenant operations—such as daily cargo flights—are not adversely affected.

Use of Developers. Almost all of the redeveloping California air bases have used the services of third party developers to undertake the marketing and development functions for a portion of the facility. Developers can provide two significant benefits—development expertise and financial resources. Developers have the planning, marketing, and construction expertise that does not typically exist in the public sector. In addition, all closed bases face a shortage of funding for marketing and deal development. Developers and their investors can provide the often substantial funding needed to market a facility and put deals together to get redevelopment underway.

Multiple Airports. In Sacramento County, two air bases were closed in the same community. In addition, the community was also already served by an existing airport system. The County responded to this situation by splitting the responsibility for different segments of the aviation industry among available facilities in order to achieve a cooperative rather than a competitive redevelopment process. McClellan Park was focused on aircraft MRO while Sacramento Mather Airport was focused on air cargo. Sacramento International Airport continued on in its passenger service role. This approach conserved marketing resources and presented a unified image for all County aviation facilities to the aviation industry.

CDIAC COMMISSION MEETING

On May 12, 2005, the California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission (CDIAC) met to discuss the activities of the Commission. The eight-person commission includes the State Treasurer as Chair, the Governor or his designee, the State Controller or his designee, two members from the State Senate, two members from the State Assembly, and two public representatives appointed by the Chair. The Commission's activities are carried out by an Executive Director and staff.

The agenda included a report by the Executive Director Lisa Marie Harris on CDIAC's activities since December 9, 2004, the date of the last Commission meeting, as well as a report on CDIAC's 2005 seminar schedule. Commission members attending the meeting included: Deputy Treasurer Ed Emerson, who chaired the Commission on behalf of Treasurer Angelides, Greg Rodgers, representing Governor Schwarzenegger, Windie Scott representing State Controller Steve Westly, Jose Cisneros, City and County of San Francisco, Donna Linton, Alameda County, Senator Dave Cox, and Colin Burnell, representing Senator Mike Machado.

Summary of CDIAC Seminars and Conferences

Since December 9, 2004, CDIAC has participated in or hosted several seminars and conferences throughout the state.

Debt Issuance-related Programs

- CDIAC session on "Auction Rate Securities" at the California Society of Municipal Finance Officers Annual Conference, Burlingame, California
- Keys to Good Disclosure: A Municipal Finance Disclosure Symposium, Los Angeles, California
- Variable Rate Financing and Interest Rate Swaps for Municipal Finance Issuers, Seaside, California

Proposed Seminars and Conferences

CDIAC has proposed the following seminars and conferences in 2005.

Tools To Revitalize California Communities:

Small Business and Technical Assistance Workshop

June 2, 2005

San Diego, CA

CDIAC will host a half-day workshop for community leaders, small business, and elected officials on financing tools to assist with business and job creation.

Fundamentals of Debt Financing

September 8-9, 2005

Concord, California

This is CDIAC's beginning debt issuance seminar. This one and one-half day seminar is designed to provide participants with fundamental terms, concepts, and processes relating to debt issuance. Topics covered in this course include: roles and responsibilities of the issuer as well as other members of the financing team; types of long-term financings; an overview of initial and continuing disclosure; how credit ratings and investor needs can be incorporated into an issuer's bond structure; and the fundamentals of a bond sale.

COMMISSION MEETING

CDIAC Pre-Conference Event at the 15th Annual Bond Buyer California Public Finance Conference

September 21, 2005

Carlsbad, California

This is a pre-conference to the Bond Buyer's Annual California Public Finance Conference. CDIAC will feature panel sessions on local government management of assets and liabilities.

Advanced Portfolio Management Decision Making Workshop

October 14, 2005

San Francisco, California

This is a one-day workshop designed for local government officials and their staff who may be involved in the day-to-day management of an investment portfolio or who are interested in a better understanding of the public investment process and how it can be achieved through technology. The program includes hands-on exercises in evaluating the various options open to local public officials when investing public funds utilizing BLOOMBERG services and other electronic sources.

Current Issues in Land-Secured Financing Workshop

November 18, 2005

Pomona, California

This is a one-day workshop focusing on Mello-Roos Community Facilities District financings and Assessment District financings.

INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO REPORTS

There is a great deal of variability among individual county and city portfolio yields and days to maturity. Depending upon their cash flow needs and risk tolerance levels, county yields vary from 2 percent to 3.8 percent and city yields vary from 2 percent to 3.5 percent. Similarly, county days to maturity range from 1 day to 1,003 days and city days to maturity range from 1 day to 1,141 days. It is worth noting that money market funds and "cash equivalent" funds, including LAIF, are treated as having a maturity of 1 day, even though these funds themselves have investment portfolios of longer average maturity. This treatment is due to the highly liquid nature of these funds, which allow significant daily liquidity without market risk.

Future Outlook

CDIAC is in the process of collecting investment reports for the quarter ending June 30, 2005. In addition, CDIAC is using the data collected for the quarter ending June 30, 2004 to examine the different practices counties and cities use to report their investment policies. A report on these practices is scheduled for publication in mid-2005. A similar report, entitled Investment Portfolio Practices: An Informational Guide, which looked at the different practices counties and cities use to report their investment portfolio reports, was published in late 2004.

CDIAC will continue to use the data collected from these portfolios and policies to publish articles, update seminars, and produce resource books on public investment reporting. Please contact Frank Moore with any questions or comments you may have regarding this data at (916) 653-4957.

IN-BOX

worrying that the state's persistent budget deficits would discourage voters from backing the project.

Tax Amnesty Program Yields Billions in Additional Revenue

By the end of April, tax receipts for the state of California had increased 15.4 percent over the same period last fiscal year, according to State Controller Steve Westly, who attributes much of the growth to California's recent income tax amnesty program.

"Without this year's amnesty program, we would be tracking closely with current budget estimates," says Mr. Westly in a written statement.

Key revenue sources — including income and sales taxes — continue to track with current budget estimates for the year. Actual receipts to date for the current fiscal year are $4.4 billion higher than the most recent budget forecast, an increase of 6.8 percent.

April personal income tax receipts were $7.7 billion, up 11 percent from last year, while retail sales and use taxes for the month were $945.5 million, up 32.4 percent from last year.

Personal income taxes for 2004 were $35.2 billion, $3.8 billion (12.2 percent) above last year. Annual retail sales and use taxes were $19.2 billion this year, $856.5 million (4.7 percent) above the same period last fiscal year. Annual corporate income taxes yielded $10.6 billion, $4.3 billion (68.6 percent) above last year.

Military Base Closures May Affect Local Municipal Credit

For the first time in a decade and at the urging of the U.S. Department of Defense (DOD), Congress has authorized a fifth round of base realignment and closure (BRAC) for 2005. In response, state and local governments have been mobilizing to head off closures in their communities, but not all will be successful.

According to a new report from Fitch Ratings titled "Bracing for BRAC 2005," an issuer's willingness and ability to plan for and adjust to an external event such as a base closure remain important to ratings stability.

Base closures and realignments can have significant negative short-term effects on local economies due not only to direct military job losses, but also to the loss of civilian contracting jobs and other private economic activity tied to that base. On the other hand, a base closure or realignment can have positive implications, such as freeing up valuable land for development. Despite these opportunities, Fitch Ratings believes that BRAC actions tend to cause economic and financial difficulties for those losing bases, over the short term.

Fitch Ratings incorporates local and regional military dependency into its ratings, but anticipates that managerial response and economic resiliency could vary significantly from previous expectations and therefore, rating pressure could potentially emerge for some local governments. Fitch Ratings does not expect that state ratings would be affected given the relatively minor impact that a base closure would have on a state economy because of the state's inherent economic diversity.

The BRAC list was made public on May 17th. Fitch Ratings will evaluate all affected issuers and take appropriate rating actions on a case-by-case basis as warranted. Since BRAC actions often take many months or years to be completed by DOD, Fitch Ratings does not expect to immediately make rating changes. Any rating actions are likely to take the form of changes in Rating Outlooks, or in certain cases, Rating Watches.

For additional information, see Fitch Research on "Bracing for BRAC 2005," dated May 11, 2005, available on the Fitch Ratings web site at www.fitchratings.com. Additional information on the BRAC list is available at www.defenselink.mil/brac/.

Summary of CDIAC Research Publications

Since December 9, 2004, CDIAC has published the following reports or products.

- State and Local Bond and Tax Measures: Results of the November 2004 General Election
- California Public Fund Investment Primer
- 20 Questions for Municipal Interest Rate Swap Issuers
- Local Agency Investment Guidelines: Update for 2005

CDIAC anticipates publishing the following reports in 2005:

Investment Policy Reporting Practices: An Informational Guide — This is a companion guide to the “Investment Portfolio Reporting Practices” guide. Using the same sources for examples, it will provide examples of effective ways of providing investment policy information.

Debt Primer Handbook — This handbook will serve as a guide to the Debt Primer, summarizing major topics and directing readers to sections of the Primer where more detailed info can be obtained.

CDIAC Debt Primer Update — With the assistance of Debt TAC members, CDIAC will update its Debt Primer to include discussion on two topics: derivatives and auction rate securities.

Understanding Yield Measurements — A description of the various ways of measuring portfolio yield and how they can produce different results comparatively.

AB 943 Report Summary — As an ongoing study of information received twice per year, this summary information on the investment portfolios and policies collected from counties and cities in the State. The presentation can be given to industry groups that ask CDIAC to speak on the topic and will be discussed in a Debt Line article.

Securities Lending Agreements — Because state law provides little guidance on investing in securities lending agreements, this issue brief will provide information on operating a securities lending program and forms of collateral based upon feedback from local agencies and other public finance practitioners in California.

Debt Issuance Data Interface — Using CDIAC’s debt issuance data, provide monthly updates through various mediums (charts, graphs, etc.) of data received. In addition, data will be made available for users to conduct their own queries of debt issuance.

Commission Resolutions

The Commission unanimously approved one resolution presented by staff. Resolution 05-01 deferred an increase in CDIAC fees until July 1, 2006. Because of the deferral, fees assessed on public issuers of debt will remain the same as those assessed in fiscal year 2005-05. CDIAC has not increased its fees since 1995.

Information Items

CDIAC staff apprised the Commission of its activities regarding several issues, including contracting, the collection of race/ethnicity/gender data from members of a debt issuance financing team, seminar activities for 2005, and planned reports and publications for 2005.

CDIAC HOSTS 4th ANNUAL PRE-CONFERENCE
AT THE BOND BUYER CALIFORNIA PUBLIC FINANCE CONFERENCE:
“Strategies for Managing Your Assets and Liabilities”

The California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission (CDIAC) is pleased to join The Bond Buyer for its fourth pre-conference program at the 15th Annual Bond Buyer California Public Finance Conference on September 21, 2005. The Conference will be held at the La Costa Resort and Spa in Carlsbad, California. CDIAC's pre-conference program, entitled Strategies for Managing Your Assets and Liabilities, will offer attendees valuable information on how to better match long-term debt liabilities to agency short-range asset holdings. Now that many agencies have issued debt for various projects, a growing need to better understand asset management is becoming vital in the larger scheme of debt and cash management.

The pre-conference is designed to provide information and education to public and private debt professionals with an overview of asset/liability matching and primary strategies that drive this concept, including cash flow matching, dedication, total immunization, partial immunization, duration matching, and active management. In addition, a discussion on debt structuring options will be presented by a panel of professionals from the public and private sector. Finally, a session will be dedicated to discussing some of the important credit considerations rating agencies, credit enhancers, and investors identify when reviewing an agency's public debt portfolio. The role of treasury managers and finance directors becomes more complex today as it is imperative that public debt professionals learn to manage their assets and liabilities. So, join CDIAC on the opening day of The Bond Buyer Conference to engage yourself in discussions that will assist you with responsibilities of good cash management practices and strategies.

CDIAC's pre-conference will include a luncheon sponsored by Standard and Poor's. Keynote luncheon speaker is San Diego's County Treasurer, Dan McAllister, who will discuss current topics facing San Diego. Cost of the program is $75 and requires separate registration and fees from the Conference, itself. The program is open to all public and private professionals. State, city, county, special district, schools, elected officials and non-profits are encouraged to attend. Registration for the pre-conference is not exclusive of the conference. You are encouraged to register for both programs. Visit The Bond Buyer website at www.bondbuyer.com or CDIAC's website at www.treasurer.ca.gov/cdiac for registration. For more information on the pre-conference, call Linda G. Louie, Program Manager, CDIAC at (916) 653-3269. Reserve your seat(s) early.

SELECTED REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Under existing law (California Government Code Section 8855(k)), "The issuer of any proposed new debt issue of State or local government (or public benefit corporation incorporated for the purpose of acquiring student loans) shall, not later than 30 days prior to the sale of any debt issue at public or private sale, give written notice of the proposed sale to the Commission, by mail, postage prepaid."

Under California Government Code Section 8855(l), "The issuer of any new debt issue of State or local government (or public benefit corporation for the purpose of acquiring student loans) shall, not later than 45 days after the signing of the bond purchase contract in a negotiated or private financing, or after the acceptance of a bid in a competitive offering, submit a report of final sale to the commission by mail, postage prepaid, or by any other method approved by the commission. A copy of the official statement for the issue shall accompany the report of final sale. The Commission may require information to be submitted in the report of final sale that is considered appropriate."

Under California Government Code Section 53583(c)(2)(B) if a "local agency determines to sell the (refunding) bonds at private sale or on a negotiated sale basis, the local agency shall send a written statement, within two weeks after the bonds are sold, to the California Debt and Investment Advisory Commission explaining the reasons why the local agency determined to sell the bonds at private sale or on a negotiated sale basis instead of at public sale."
